NEW GUIDE

Data centers on social media.

One of the most contested, and most shared, topics a local government can post about. How governments are answering residents' questions, whatever they decide.

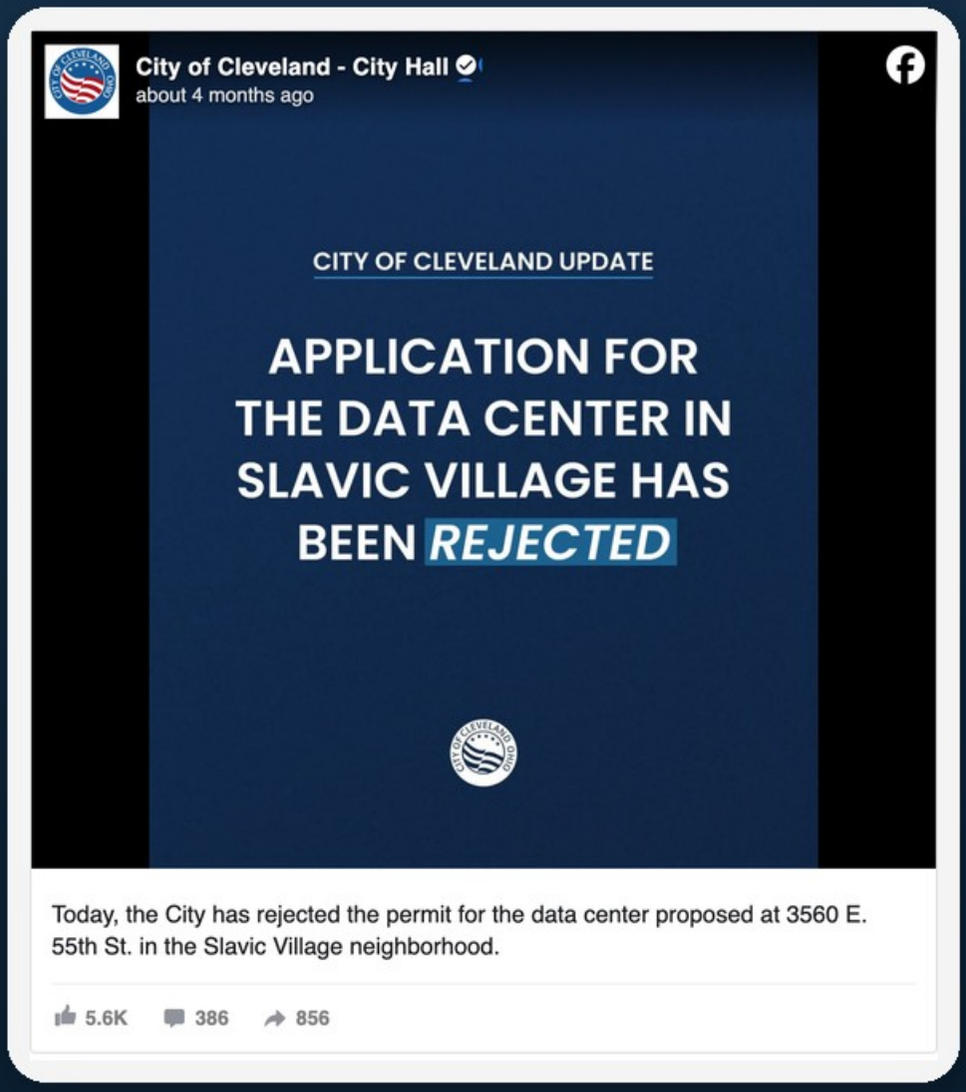

Three real posts →

GovFeeds

swipe →

CITY OF CLEVELAND · OHIO

Name the site. State the decision.

WHY IT WORKS

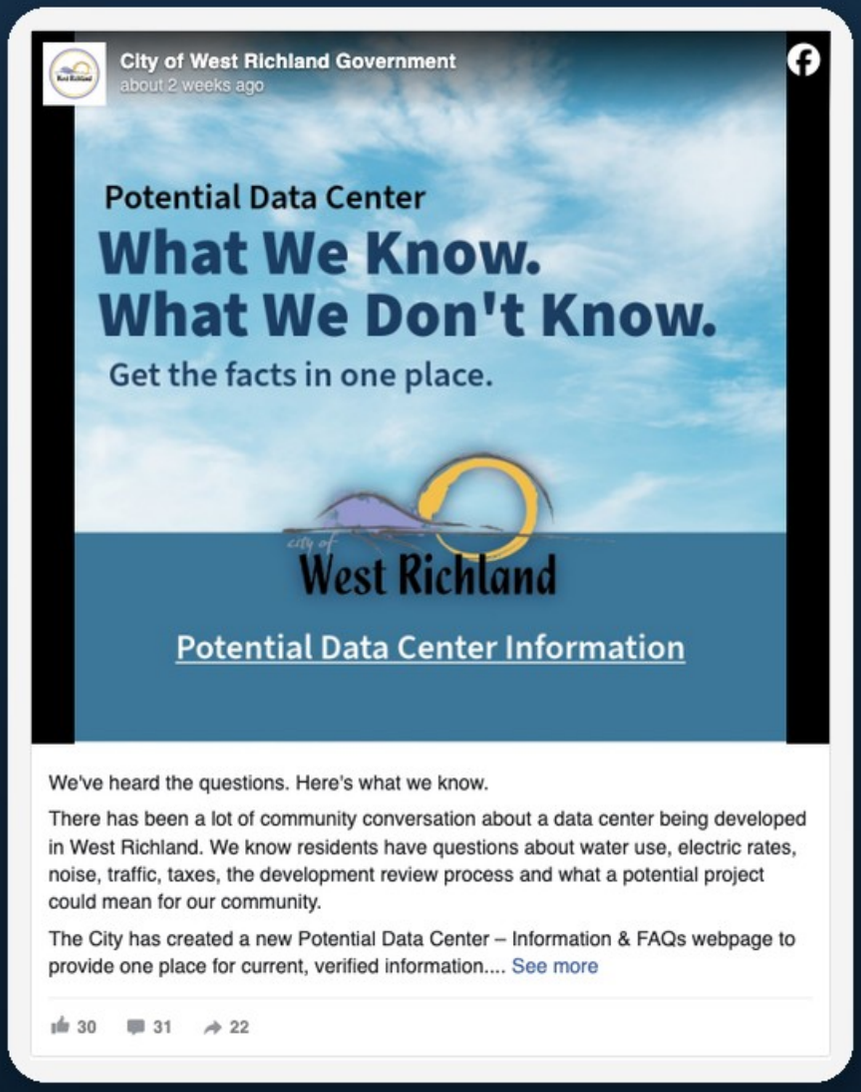

The city said which site and what was decided, in plain words. Residents forward posts like this into neighborhood groups, so it has to stand on its own.

GovFeeds

swipe →

CITY OF WEST RICHLAND · WASHINGTON

Put the answers in one place.

WHY IT WORKS

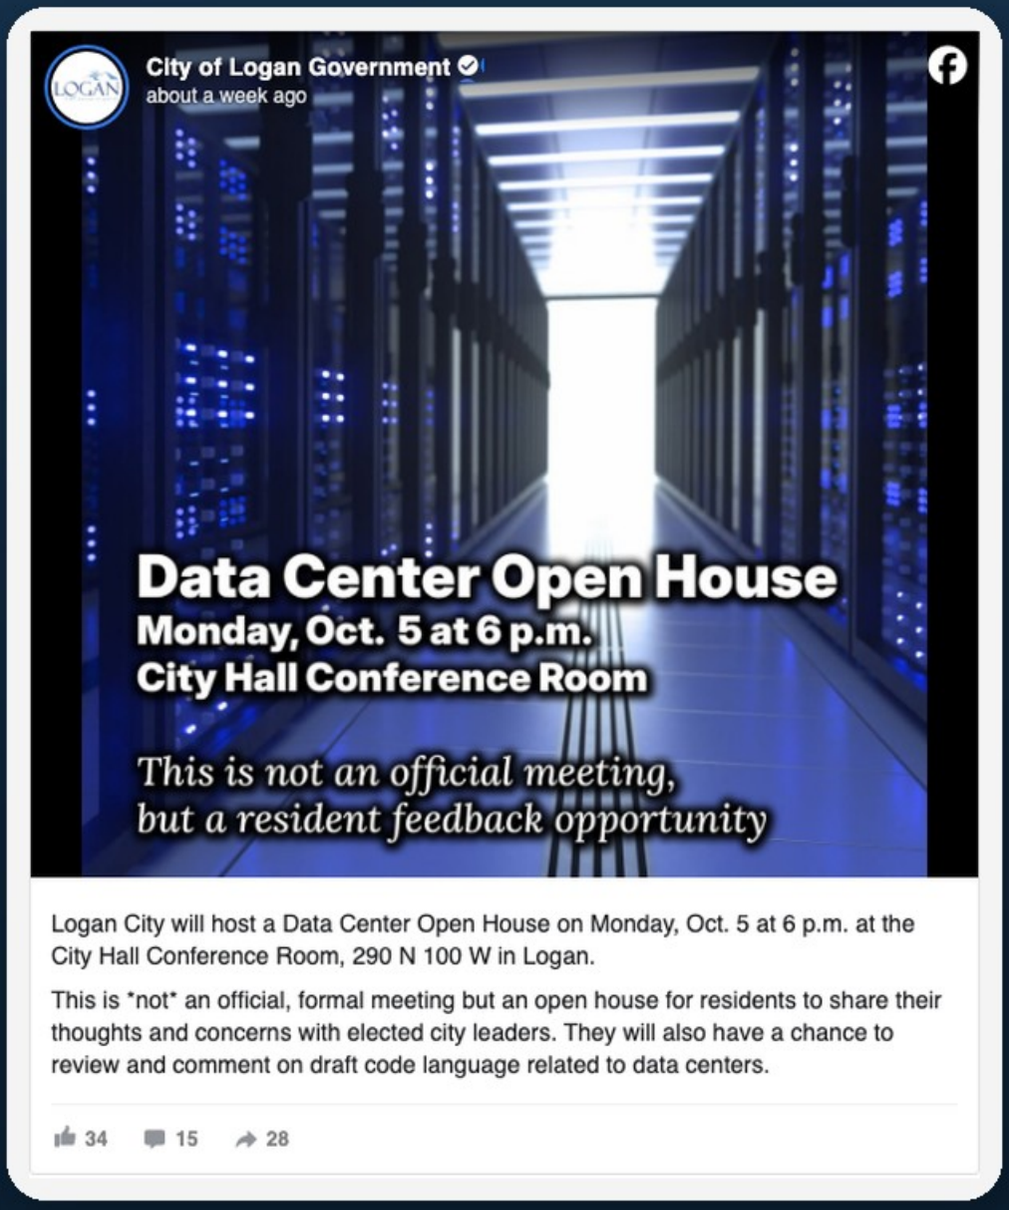

“What we know. What we don't know.” The city listed the questions residents were asking and pointed to one page with verified answers.

GovFeeds

swipe →

LOGAN CITY · UTAH

Make it easy to be heard.

WHY IT WORKS

An open house, not a formal hearing: a resident feedback opportunity, with elected leaders in the room and draft code to review.

GovFeeds

swipe →

READ THE GUIDE

Answer the two questions first.

How much water and power, and what does it cost us? Our guide has a checklist you can paste into a draft:
govfeeds.com/guides/data-centers

Get a free benchmark report for your community:

govfeeds.com/free-report

GovFeeds