

NEW GUIDE

“How do we compare?”

Reporting social media to council.

Sooner or later a council member or manager asks. Here is how to answer it in a way that holds up.

What to report, and what not to →

WHY THE OBVIOUS ANSWERS FAIL

Followers, a viral post, a raw total.

Follower count mostly measures how big your community is. Your best post is an outlier you can't repeat. A total with no peer set is trivia, not evidence.

COMPARE LIKE WITH LIKE

13 - 20 - 29

posts a month for a typical town under 10,000, a city of 10,000 to 50,000, and a city or county over 50,000. Across those bands, a comparison mostly measures how big the places are.

23,167 municipality-months.

MAKE THE WORK LEGIBLE

One page, ninety seconds.

Your posts next to peers your size, your three best posts and why, and one recommendation for next month.

FREE BENCHMARK REPORT

How does your city compare?

We'll build a free report for your government: what you posted this month, next to peers your size, and the topics worth borrowing.

Request yours:

govfeeds.com/free-report

The full guide: govfeeds.com/guides/reporting-to-council

GovFeeds