

NEW GUIDE

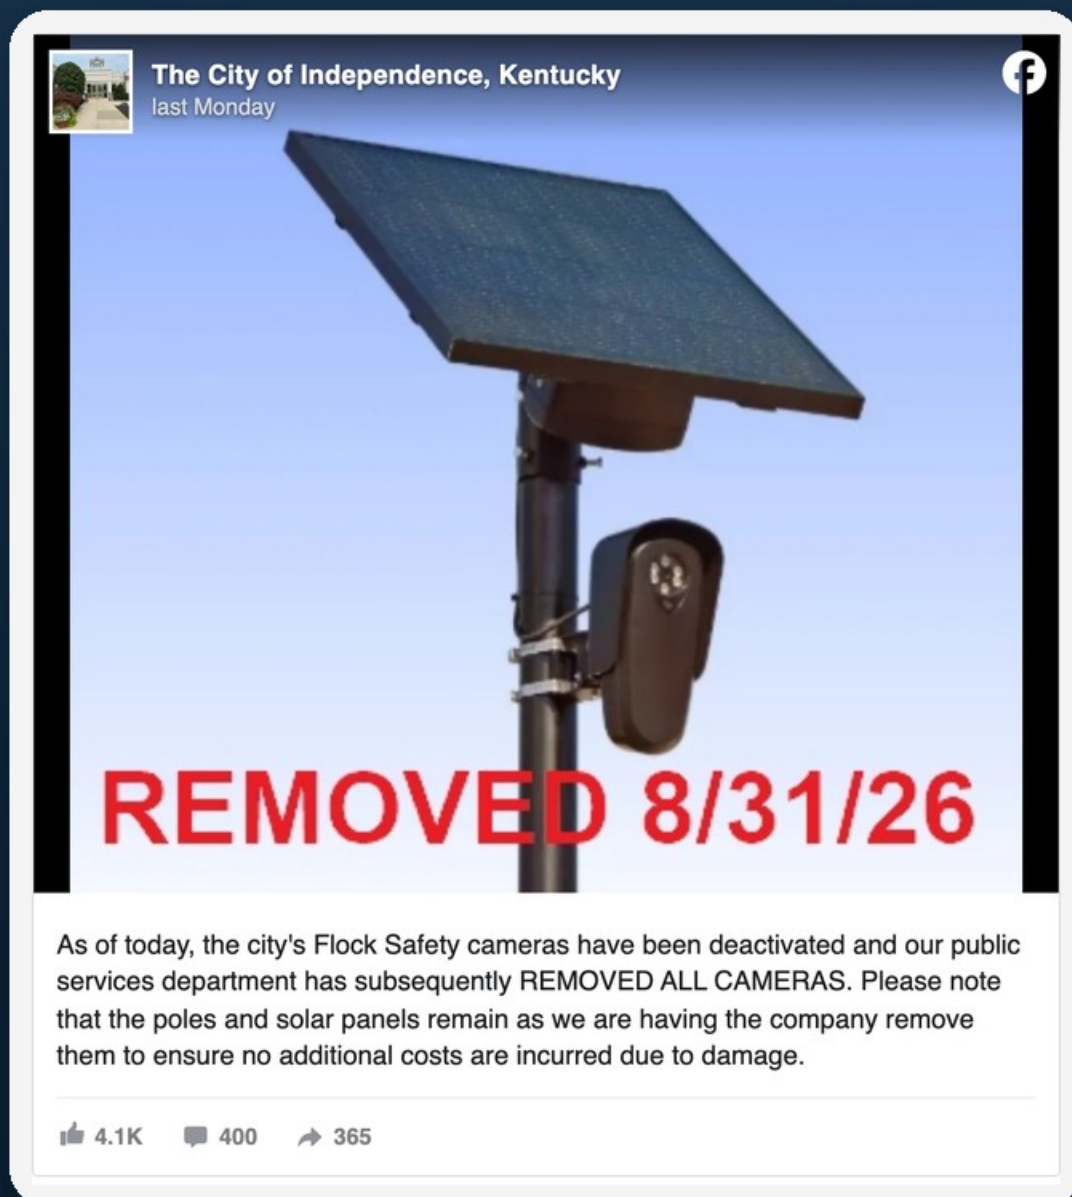

License-plate cameras on social media.

One of the most contested, and most shared, topics in local government. How governments are posting about it, whatever they decide.

What the posts that work have in common →

CITY OF INDEPENDENCE · KENTUCKY

State the decision plainly.

WHY IT WORKS

“As of today” the cameras were deactivated and removed, and the post said what happens to the poles left behind.

WHAT MAKES THESE POSTS WORK

Answer the three questions.

What does it capture? Who can access the data? How long is it kept? Then say what it does not do, and whether the data is shared outside your agency.

Link to the actual policy or the council vote. People who forward the post want the source.

WHATEVER YOUR COUNCIL DECIDES

Candid beats pro or anti.

Start from the resident's concern, not the technology: “who is watching me, and what happens to that record?” If you change course, say so plainly.

TRY GOVFEEDS

See how governments like yours post about it.

Search 1.4 million posts from about 5,000 local governments, and draft your own with AI grounded in real examples.

Start a free 14-day trial, no payment information needed:

app.govfeeds.com

The full guide: govfeeds.com/guides/license-plate-cameras

GovFeeds