

THE BIGGEST LIFT WE MEASURED

Congratulate someone on social media.

Posts that congratulate a person draw 3.6× the page's usual engagement, on 88% of the 634 pages that post them.

Three real Facebook posts →

- City of Greenville, North Carolina
- Union County, North Carolina
- City of Middleton, Wisconsin

CITY OF GREENVILLE · NORTH CAROLINA

Name the person and the years.

WHY IT WORKS

A bus driver marking 40 years with the city, photographed at her bus. Over 200 comments. The page's usual post draws 3 interactions in total.

UNION COUNTY · NORTH CAROLINA

Say why it matters.

WHY IT WORKS

The fire marshal earned a credential only 31 people in North Carolina hold, and the post said so. Over 200 comments; the page's usual post draws 9.

CITY OF MIDDLETON · WISCONSIN

Put the family in the photo.

WHY IT WORKS

The council honored a firefighter for 50 years of service, a first for the district, with his family beside him. About 90 comments; the usual post draws 2.

HOW IT COMPARES

Engagement vs. the same page's usual post

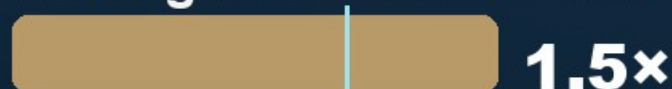

Congratulating a person

Saying thank you

Writing as "we" and "our"

Using emoji

Using hashtags

Ending with a question

a page's usual post = 1x

369,000 local-government Facebook posts, Jul 1 to Sep 23, 2026.
Each page compared with its own other posts (median).

THE THROUGH-LINE

Put people first.

A name, a photo, the years, and why it matters.
Most governments have a story like this every week.

See how your community's posts compare with peers, free:

govfeeds.com/free-report

GovFeeds