

HOW GOVERNMENTS POST ABOUT

Local businesses on social media.

Small-business posts beat a page's usual engagement on more than half of pages. The standouts tell the owner's story.

Three real Facebook posts →

- Falcon Heights, Minnesota
- Phippsburg, Maine
- Alamogordo, New Mexico

CITY OF FALCON HEIGHTS · MINNESOTA

Tell the owner's story.

WHY IT WORKS

Not just a ribbon-cutting: the owner describes the restaurant as a dream built from childhood memories and her family's sacrifices.

PHIPPSBURG · MAINE

Make it a weekly series.

WHY IT WORKS

A Featured Business of the Week, written like a neighbor's recommendation: what to buy there and when to stop by.

CITY OF ALAMOGORDO · NEW MEXICO

Answer “what's coming?”

WHY IT WORKS

Three new businesses, each pinned on an aerial map with its address. Made to be shared, and residents did.

THE THROUGH-LINE

Make it about people and place.

Residents share business news when it answers their questions and introduces their neighbors.

Search how peer governments post about local business, 14 days free:

app.govfeeds.com

GovFeeds